Eye screening camp for differentially able children:

The Rotary Club of Bhubaneswar Heritage sponsored an eye screening camp for differently able children at Chetna Campus in Bhubaneswar on January 11th, 2013 and Kalinga Eye Hospital has provided the medical assistance for the Eye treatment. The camp screened 136 children, and 11 were provided with refractive corrective spectacles. Many differently able children have multiple health concerns, including sight impairment. Providing eye care can help a child become more independent and can help him or her do better in school.

Eye Screening camp at the OFSDP Office:

A screening was held on August 9th, 2013, at the Odisha Forestry Sector Development Project's (OFSDP) office, which was attended by PCCF of Kenduleaf and P.D. of OFSDP Sri Vinod Kumar. Animators have also shared their experiences of becoming a guard of vision. After remarks to the crowd, Animators from several (villages) who had been trained to screen patients through Kalinga Eye Hospital's Vision Technician Training program screened workers. This allowed forestry department officials to see the results of the training, and also allowed Animators to screen 78 patients and provide 44 with medicine.

Empowering the forest community to detect eye problems

In the second phase of Animator training, 1,436 people are scheduled to be trained to carry out vision exams of their entire villages. The Odisha Forestry Sector Development Project has worked together with Kalinga Eye Hospital to train a member from each village and provide him or her with a kit to screen for eye diseases and problems. After an Animator has screened the entire population of his or her village, a doctor travels to a central location and sees patients from several villages that the Animators have identified as having eye problems. 796 people were trained in round one of the project, and almost 1,500 patients were seen at five eye camps.

From Forest Guards to Vision Guardians:

In support with the Odisha Forestry Sector Development Project (OFSDP) Odisha, KEH decided to empower the Animators from different forest ranges to detect the common eye problems amongst the community and in this regard, after training these animators have screened the general population of their villages and identified the people are in need of eye care treatment. Amongst all Keonjhar district has conducted the Eye camps at first and 5 eye treatment camps were conducted in five strategic locations of the district through which 2463 people been screened, 1561 were provided with ophthalmic medicines, 978 were provided with refractive corrected glasses and 370 has undergone cataract eye surgery. Without this initiative 2463 people of the dense forest areas of our state would not have accessed the eye care and might remain with eye problems.

Helping restoring sight:

There are few non-profit global health delivery organizations have joined hand with Kalinga Eye Hospital in restoring sight of the people are in need with KEH to provide comprehensive ophthalmic care and education about preventative measures through conducting outreach eye treatment camps. Many patients in Odisha cannot access eye care because of a variety of reasons, such as lack awareness or transportation, loss of wages, or lack of need. To work around these barriers to care, outreach camps were designed to help patients restore their sight. Outreach camps are conducted in a radius of about seven hours from the clinic in the local villages to minimize the patient travelling. Patients from these camps who need surgery are transported back to the hospital for treatment and once surgery is done, patients are counseled about the postoperative care and are dropped back at their respective villages and regularly provided with follow up care by our outreach teams. This year, 6094 patients were provided with free sight-restoring cataract surgery,
